Did James E. Anderson, the famous witness, graduate at West Point?

General Grant's travels can not be called finished until he has visited Oshkosh.

Washburne is the coming man. A boom for him would be the most sensible boom that could be started

Mr Tilden will show his political enemies at Cincinnati that he is the healthiest man in the Democratic party.

Eau Claire county would not instruct its delegates to the State Convention. The Eau Claire Republicans are wise.

John Sherman still appears to have faith that he can be nominated at Chicago. He will lack at least 300 votes under the most favorable circumstances.

It used to be "bleeding Kansas," but now it is "thirsting Kansas." But however, a rain fell there the other day, the first in some localities that has fallen in seventeen months.

The Democratic members of Congress will probably be treated with another veto. There is nothing which will make a boasting Democrat in Coongress feel more like a whipped cur, than a good, sound veto.

"Cove" Bennett, who, with Jennie Smith, killed the latter's husband, and who once lay under sentence of death for the crime, will take to the lecture platform. It would be more creditable if he would take to suicide.

According to the professors at West Point, all the cadets except Whittaker, are like Washington—they can't tell a lie But the way the investigation in the Whittaker case is turning out, there seem to be a good many Louisianians among the cadets, as well as among the professors.

The Hon. William H. Hiner, of Fond du Lac, died at his home in that city on Thursday morning, in the 59 h year of his age He settled in Fond du Lac in 1850, and became a prominent iron manufacturer He served in the State Senate in 1872, 1873, 1874, 1875, 1876, and 1877. He also filled many offices of a local character. He was President pr tem of the Senate in 1877.

The trial of Benjamin F. Allen, of Chicago, ex-President of the Cook county National bank, has commenced in Chicago Allen was indicted for embezzling several hundred thousand dollars that belonged to the bank. General Leake, United States District Attorney, who played into the hands of General McArthur during the latter's trial, will appear for the Government in the trial of Allen. It remains to be seen whether he will pretend to try the case for the Government, or whether he will be in earnest.

It would be a good thing if Senator Allison's proposition could be adopted to have the President appoint two more colored cadets to West Point. That proposition is a good one, and should President Hayes be authorized to make such an appointment, we hope he will select two colored young men who are physically able to see their way through West Point. They should be permitted to defend themselves whenever an occasion required, and the more they brought into play their muscles in defending themselves, the greater would be their honor.

Thomas Nast brings out a striking cartoon in the last Harper's Weekly, on Senator Blaine. It is as severe as any he ever drew of Tilden, Greeley, or Tweed. This may be considered harsh treatment of the Maine Senator—"the plumed knight who marched down the halls of the American Congress and threw his shining lance full and fair in the face of treason"—but there are many points in the cartoon which are well taken and powerfully used. This illustrates how time and men change. Until recently, the Harpers gave Blaine the highest compliments by its cartoons, but now it brings him on a level with Tilden, Greeley, and Tweed.

There are some points connected with the boom for Grant in the South which should be thoroughly understood. The Southern Republicans who will go to the Chicago Convention will cast their votes for General Grant. To a certain extent they dictate the nomination of a candidate because they are almost a unit in the Convention. With this comes the fact that not a Southern State will be permitted to cast an electoral vote for General Grant or any other Republican. Here, then, we have the Republicans of the South dictating a nomination when they cannot contribute anything to the election of a Republican President. This is not a very pleasant trap for the Republicans of the North, and they should keep out of it. If the South can not give one electoral vote toward the election of a Republican President, it certainly should not exercise the authority to dictate what candidate the North must support. This question is a serious one, and it is one when the Northern delegates must soberly and wisely consider. Above all things the Republican Convention must not fail to do its duty. It has a great work to do. It must decide what man the Republican party must support for the Presidency, and there should be no mistake as to that man. The Convention should not go on the principle that the Democrats will make a blunder. It won't do to place too much confidence in Democratic blunders. If Tilden be nominated, and likely he will, he will spend millions, and his tricks, bribery, money, and frauds, must be met with the best man in the Republican party.

The Whitewater Register of this week contains the following editorial paragraph:

> The Delavan Enterprise is the only Republican paper in the First District which opposes the re-nomination of Hon. C. G. Williams to Congress. There is no need of more than mentioning the matter, however, as the Geneva Herald is attending to the Enterprise in good style. We will merely pause to remark that Mr. Williams will receive every vote on the first formal ballot excepting possibly the two or three "scatterings" which usually appear. The first formal ballot will be substantially unanimous.

The harmony of feeling among the Republican papers in the First District on the renomination of Mr. Williams, is a compliment to him, and we might add, is a credit to the newspapers. For a very substantial reason, Mr. Williams will be renominated. It is no time to swap horses while crossing a stream. The condition of politics in this country reminds all thoughtful men that two great battles must be fought—one at the polls and the other in Congress. The case demands that the best men shall represent the Republican party in that body. Men who have been tried, men of courage, men of experience, men of capacity, and men who will not cower before the audacious threatenings of the Southern leaders, are the men who should represent the North in the halls of Congress. Mr. Williams is one of these men, and by common consent will be returned.

CHEATING JUSTICE.

The trial of General McArthur, ex-postmaster of Chicago, charged with embezzlement, came to an end on Wednesday afternoon, when he was found guilty on all the counts. The amount stolen was about seventy thousand dollars. There was such a plain case against him, the evidence being almost overwhelming, that the jury did not even go to the trouble of polling a vote. When the Court told the jurymen that they had better fix a round verdict for $50,000, the twelve men, sitting in judgment on the unfortunate McArthur, bowed their heads in assent and the thing was done. A fine of $50,000 was imposed, simply as a matter of form, and sentence was suspended till June 1, to enable General McArthur to apply for a pardon from President Hayes.

This whole trial from beginning to end, the manner in which a verdict was rendered, the fine imposed by Judge Blodgett, and the suspension of the sentence for one month, is an insult to Justice. General McArthur committed the crime of stealing $70,000 from the Government. He will admit that he went into speculation and being cramped from means, took that amount of money from the post office department in Chicago. The formality of an arrest was gone through with, his bail of $8,000 was considered large enough, and that being obtained, he was released. It will be seen that there was no intention on the part of the officers of the law, to punish Mc Arthur. The United States District Attorney Leake, whose business it was to drosecute McArthur to the fullest extent of his ability, did not prosecute the case at all. He pretended to do so, but went on the stand as a voluntary witness to testify to General McArthur's good character; and even went further than this by requesting that he be excused from addressing the jury for the Government for the reason that it would be "too painful" for him to do as General McArthur was too dear a friend to him! Judge Blodgett, for a wonder, denied the request, and Leake went on in a bungling and insincere way to ask for the conviction of the defaulter. The scene was mortifying to all men of conscience who witnessed it.

This case illustrates how poorly justice is administered in this country when an official and a man of social standing, is found guilty of stealing, especially stealing from the Government. A poor devil who steals a ham to feed his hungry children on, or an old coat to protect his shivering body from the storm, will go to the State Prison for three or four years for the crime; but a society man, an ex-official, who steals $70,000 to help him out in speculation and support a system of fast living, has the sympathy of many friends, is admitted to fail in the sum of $8,000, is allowed to go about his business, and when he is tried, his trial proves a farce, his sentence is suspended for one month to enable him to run down to Washington, to get a pardon from the President, and at last the pardon is granted, the Government loses $70,000. and Justice is badly cheated.

This is about the way things run in this country when an official is tried for stealing. There is no sort of respect paid to law and no disposition to see that the criminal is punished. It is hoped that President Hayes will stand firm and not pardon General McArthur. He should pay the $50,000 or go to prison. Because he once held an important office, and occupied a high position in society, is no reason why he should be allowed to go unpunished for the crime he has committed. He is no better than the man who stole the ham or the coat—not as excusable, in fact—and should be justly punished.

DE YOUNG'S SLAYER.

Young Kalloch is Held Without Bail on the Charge of Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, April, 29—Clementshaw, the witness who testified before the Coroner's jury last evening that DeYoung fired the first shot at Kalloch, was arrested and locked up on the charge of perjury.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 29—In the Police Court this afternoon I. M Kalloch had a preliminary examination on the charge of killing Charles De Young. The prosecution offered testimony of eye witnesses of the shooting, medical men who were in attendance and performed the autopsy, and the arresting officer. The defense offered no testimony, and the prisoner was held without bail.

The Post this afternoon publishes the following card from young Kalloch:

To the Editor of the Post:

I have not a word to say about the facts or merits of my case. I wish it to be tried. Ordinary fair play, especially toward a man charged with murder, is supposed to be characteristic of American communities, but I expect no fair play on or before my trial, if the lost men and corrupt detectives who surround the Chronicle office, and assume to run this city, can prevent it. It is infamous that public officers, who are paid by the community, should work illegitimately for private individuals, and convert what ought to be honorable prosecution into malignant persecution. The drivel published in the Chronicle last Sunday shows how some of our detectives will invade private houses and frighten ignorant people. As for the arrest of Clementshaw, I have this to say: I do not know the man, and I make no statement of my version as to what transpired. I do not say whether his testimony is correct or incorrect; but I do declare that he had no motive, so far as I can see, to conceal or pervert the truth, and that there is nothing in his evidence to indicate perjury. It looks to me as if his arrest is intended by the Chronicle and detectives to warn the citizens of San Francisco that they must not testify to any facts that would even tend toward my exculpation. Yours truly,

I. M. Kalloch.

The Post in another column says: However improbable it may appear in the face of the testimony given at the inquest on body of the late Charles De Young, it is confidently asserted by the friends of I M Kalloch that at least a dozen witnesses will support the testimony of Clementshaw to the effect that De Young did fire the first shot. The rumor is given for what it is worth, but there is no doubt that such evidence will be offered and form a part of the defense.

THAT LETTER.

Donnelly Going for Ex-Congressman King of Minnesota.

WASHINGTON, April 29—The evidence taken in the Springer-Donnelly-Finley case developed some strong evidence. Mr. Finley showed that he was mistaken about many important features, and left the impression upon the committee and spectators that he had a very poor memory, or had manufactured a story in which several joints were loose. Donnelly watched the proceedings with great interest. He says that he will fasten the authorship of the anonymous letter upon ex-Congressman King, of Minnesota, and all the questions asked about the matter by General Brailey T Johnson, the celebrated ex-Confederate General, indicated that such was the intention. Donnelly says that he has received a very indecent and disreputable letter from Colonel King. He says King threatened him in the letter that his character would be exposed if he persisted in his endeavors to fasten the anonymous letter on King. In this letter King details Donnelly's rascalities. Donnelly says that the letter is now in the hands of an expert who will testify that King wrote the anonymous letter. He proposes to put the letter in evidence, and if he does it will open up an interesting inquiry into Donnelly's record.

BLAINE.

The States That the Washington Friends of Blaine Claim.

WASHINGTON, April 29—Friends of Senator Blaine have the following information: "A private dispatch from Ohio to-day says, Blaine has nine delegates on the first ballot; sixteen on the second, and in either the first or second choice of forty-one." Other dispatches substantially confirm this report. The delegation is intensely and almost unanimously anti-Grant, and anti-third term.

The South Carolina delegation is headed by the most earnest friends of Blaine in the South and at least six of the delegates will support Blaine, first and last, and the others are divided between Grant and Sherman. Dispatches and letters from Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and West Virginia agree that Blaine will have all of these States substantially solid. Conventions in the first three will meet next week. In the other the week following. Other Republican Conventions next week will be those of New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Mississippi and Tennessee.

Information at the National Blaine Club is to the effect that New Hampshire will be solid for Blaine. Wisconsin will give him 18 of it 20 votes, while Tennessee and Mississippi will be divided. Senator Blaine has a dispatch from California which says: "The Convention is unanimous for Blaine; instructed to vote as a unit."

PENSIONS.

The Claim Agents' War upon Commissioner Bentley.

WASHINGTON, April 29—It has been repeatedly stated in these dispatches that the special committee now engaged in an alleged effort to improve the pension system was being conducted in the interests of the claim agents and that the operations are directed by claim agents. Two weeks ago a delegation from this committee called at the Pension Office and asked to see a quantity of official papers. They were accompanied by three claim agents. Commissioner Bentley said the committee could see the papers, but the claim agents could not, because it would be in violation of the rules of the office. Representative Myers, of Indiana, who seems to be the particular representative and advocate of the claim agents, took copies of the papers, which were shown the committee by Commissioner Bentley, and has furnished those copies to the claim agents, so that by the aid of Congressman Myers those individuals have eluded the official vigilance of the commissioners and obtained the documents they were after; or, in other words, Congressman Myers acted as their tool in obtaining contraband information.

The claim agents have an organ here which they circulate free to all pensioners and applicants for pensions as a method of advertising their business. This advertising sheet is printed monthly. Of the April number, which has just been issued, 100,000 copies were printed, and the entire paper is exclusively devoted to attracking Commissioner Bentley, and arguments against the substitute for the sixty surgeons bill. On the first page appears Bentley's picture, labeled: "The arch enemy of the soldier. The man who cannot bring himself to believe the testimony of soldiers." The text of the paper is full of falsehoods and misrepresentations, designed to mislead and misinform its readers. The bitterness the claim agents feel against Bentley even invades the poetical department of the paper, which contains a doggerel entitled "Soldiers' Rally," of which the following is a sample stanza:

> "Soldiers, rally, soldiers free,
> Rally every yeoman,
> 'Gainst the man whom you now see—
> Yours, the soldiers foeman,
> John A. Bentley,
> He must go, he must go,
> For he is the soldier's foe."

This sort of stuff is printed and circulated free among the soldier element of the country for the purpose of revenge. Commissioner Bentley is the most efficient man who has filled the office he occupies for many years, and the cause of these attacks upon him is his action in cutting down the fees of the claim agents and protecting the pensioners against their rapacity.

OBITUARY.

Death of Ex-Senator Hiner, of Fond du Lac,

FOND DU LAC, April 29—Ex-Senator Wm. H. Hiner died at his residence in this city this morning, in his 59th year. Deceased was born in Bedford, Pa., December 16, 1821, received an academic education, and came to this State in 1850 and settled at Fond du Lac, where he resided up to the time of his death. He served as alderman and president of the city council for several years, and was twice elected Mayor of Fond du Lac, without opposition. He is one of the proprietors of the Union Iron Works, and conducted an extensive business for several years. In 1871 he was elected to the State Senate, and re elected in 1873, being honored by being elected president pro tempore of that body. Mr Hiner was for years prominent in Masonic and business circles, and was widely known throughout the Northwest.

A QUEER FUNERAL.

NEW YORK, April 29—The body of Ah Sing, one of the colony of Chinese laundrymen at Belleville, N. J., was buried with peculiar ceremony Monday. His fellow countrymen had ordered a hearse with particular instructions that it be decorated with "chickee fellee" (chicken feather) plumes. The hearse is an innovation at Chinese funerals. As the body was borne into Chinese quarters show money, consisting of pieces of brown payer bearing Chinese characters, was scattered. A tin pan with burning incense was placed at the head of the body in the hearse. The grave had been dug deeper than was considered proper and it was partly filled with earth again. In a hole at the foot of the grave an earthen jar was put, and over this were thrown candles and nuts. When the hole was filled up, a plate with meat and chicken was placed over it. Near by were chop sticks, a bowl of rice and a bowl of tea. The grave was partially surrounded by burning tapers, tea was poured over the grave, and the mourners prostrating themselves went away. The ceremony was witnessed by large numbers of people.

DEATH SENTENCE.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 29—The jury in the Wade murder trial returned a verdict this evening of guilty, and fixing death as the penalty. They retired at 12 o'clock, and were out seven hours, two of the twelve insisting on a verdict of imprisonment for life. When the verdict was read the prisoner exhibited no emotion whatever, simply remarking to his counsel that he didn't see how they could find such a verdict in the presence of such testimony. The trial has lasted eleven days, and the proceedings have been watched with the most intense interest, hundreds of women holding seats in the court room during the course of the trial.

"GENTLEMAN JO."

NEW YORK, April 29—Eugene Fairfax Williamson, or Ingenious "Gentleman Jo," will not be likely to persecute Dr Dix or anybody else in the future. Having pleaded guilty to forgery in hopes of securing a lighter sentence, he was sadly disappointed to-day. The extreme penalty was five years. His counsel only presented the mitigating circumstances, claiming that Williamson's mind was deranged, and praying for leniency. Judge Gildersleeve, however, imposed a sentence of three years and a half in the State Prison.

FOR BLAINE.

DELAVAN, April 29.—At the Assembly District Convention, held to-day, two Blaine delegates were elected to Madison—H. A. Johnson and J. L. Hoard. The Convention was unanimous for Blaine, with one exception.

MORE DELEGATES.

MINERAL POINT, April 29—Iowa county sends three Blaine, one Washburne-Blaine and one Grant delegate to the State Convention.

THOMAS STATION, MINN, Aug 9, 1879.
MESSRS. MORGAN & ALLEN, 59 John St., New York City:
Dear Sirs—Last Sabbath I was at Fond du Lac and called on Mr. W. M. CARLTON. I was surprised to find him so much improved; he told me that your medicine "Constitution Water" had been the means of doing it. It has been the belief of every physician knowing of his case that there was no help for him.

DERVISH FREE MASONRY.

Alleged Discovery of a Lodge With European Rites in Egypt.

New York Herald.

Interest in the Masonic discoveries lately made here in connection with the obelisk that is to be moved to New York has not yet ceased. Mr Ralph Borg, British Vice Consul here and Worshipful Master of the English Lodge, recently made the following statement to your correspondent: "1864 I was present in Cairo at the working Masonic lodge composed of Egyptian dervishes, whose traditions purport to emanate from the most remote period of Egyptian antiquity. These traditions are, however unfortunate oral—they have been handed down by word of mouth from generation to generation —for dervishes know no other form of record or tradition. I obtained admission to this lodge in the following manner. One of these dervises was an intimate friend of an English Free Mason residents at the time at Alexandria. The dervish one day, much to the Englishman's surprise, invited him to visit his lodge. The Englishman, who was perfectly familiar with the Arabic language, made three visits to the lodge, but he solemnly pledged himself never to reveal anything about it to anybody, because the other dervishes were not at all pleased that one of their number had spoken upon the subject to Englishman. Subsequently the Englishman asked permission to bring one of his countrymen to the lodge. This permission was at length granted most reluctantly, and upon the condition that the newcomer should be blindfolded in coming and going. The Englishman invited me to accompany him. I was most carefully blindfolded. After proceeding on foot for over an hour and a half the lodge was reached. It seemed to be in a stone cave or underground temple. From the nature of the ground passed over I should judge that it was situated in the desert near Mount Mokatom. The rites employed were similar to those employed in European lodges. The dervishes said that this was only a branch of their Grand Lodge and that their traditions related back to time beyond memory. Upon suggestion that they might have originated from some of the numerous Masonic lodges established in Egypt by the French in 1708, the dervishers said that they were entirely independent of those lodges, and that we were the first Europeans who had ever been admitted to their lodge."

CAUTION.—DON'T BE DECEIVED by unprincipled dealers who try to palm off upon you Rock and Rye in place of our TOLU ROCK AND RYE, which is the only MEDICATED article made, the GENUINE having a GOVERNMENT STAMP on each bottle.

Extract from Report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue;

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE OF INTERNAL REVENUE, WASHINGTON, D. C., January 26, 1880.

Messrs. LAWRENCE & MARTIN, 111 Madison St., Chicago, Ills:

GENTLEMEN: I have received a "certified formula" giving the ingredients and relative proportions used in the manufacture of an article which you advertise and sell under the name of "TOLU, ROCK and RYE." This compound, according to your formula, in the opinion of this office, would have a sufficient quantity of the BALSAM OF TOLU to give it all the advantages ascribed to this article in pectoral complaints, while the whisky and the syrup constitute an emulsion rendering the compound an agreeable remedy to the patient

In the opinion of this office, an article compounded according to this formula may properly be classed as a medicinal preparation under the provisions of Schedule A, following Section 3,437, U S Revised Statutes and when so stamped may be sold by Druggists, Apothecaries and Other Persons without rendering them liable to pay special tax as liquor dealers.

Yours Respectfully, (Signed) GREEN B. RAUM, Commissioner.

FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1880.

THE DEACON WOULD A-WOOING GO.

BY EMMA H. DEMERITT.

The sun had disappeared behind the hills of New Bethany, and the lingering light on the mountain tops was changing from rose to purple, when Deacon Pinch stopped his melancholy old mare in front of the village postoffice. It was Saturday night, the only time when New Bethany roused itself from its lethargy and showed any signs of life and energy. The rest of the week it drowsed and languished after the fashion of small country towns remote from railway and manufacturing centers.

"Whoa, Mary Jane!" said the deacon, with unnecessary emphasis, throwing the reins on the mare's broad back and springing to the ground.

But the despondent Mary Jane had already ceased her shambling gait from sheer force of habit. A ten year's service with the deacon had made her perfectly familiar with the accustomed round of stopping places. Wednesday night it was the prayermeeting; Sunday, the church service; and Saturday night, invariably the postoffice, and, as a late variation, an after pause at the house of Mrs. Betsey Hill, the town milliner, who for a quarter of a century had supplied the women of New Bethany with head gear fearfully and wonderfully made.

The moment the deacon stepped inside the office he knew, from the unusual buzz of conversation, that something extraordinary had happened.

"Heard the news—eh, deacon?" asked one of the village loungers.

The deacon looked up inquiringly.

"Miss Kezia's had an amaz'n' streak of luck"

"It's been nothin' but an amazin' streak of luck ever since she was born," returned the deacon. "It ownin' the best farm in town and hevin' money at interest isn't luck, I'd like to know what is!"

"Yes, but this is something out of common. You used to know her brother, who died years ago and left his only child for Miss Kezia to bring up? Wa'al when old man Mead died Miss Kezia took the farm as her share of the property, and her brother, bein' of a rovin' turn of mind, took the few thousands of personal property as his'n and invested 'em in western lands which turned out wuthless, and he lost every cent he put in. Folks always damned him for bein' so foolish and hasty and they say grief and mortification like hastened his death. Wa'al, it turns out now that they hev' put a railroad square thro' the lands, and its real estate way up nobody knows where. Miss Kezia's been offered very nearly unto eight thousand dollars for the lands, and they say she'll get ever so much more if she only holds out."

"You don't mean it?"

"I dew; it's as true as scripter."

"She'll hold out, never fear," said the deacon; and I hold it to be our bounded duty as her neighbors to advise her to that end."

Instead of lingering as usual for the village gossip—for the New Bethany postoffice on Saturday night answered the purpose of a weekly newspaper—the deacon seemed in a great hurry to get home.

It was the night of the choir rehearsal and in driving by the church he saw Mary Hall, Miss Kezia's niece, going up the steps. He suddenly whipped up his sleepy old mare and drove home at a breakneck rate of speed.

"Now's yer time, Solomon Pinch," he muttered to himself; "it's mebbe a long while afore you'll have sich a good chance again. She'll be sure to be alone for a couple of hours or so—Hi old lady! no stopping here to-night," he added giving the lines a sudden twist as Mary Jane showed an inclination to stop before Mrs Betsey Hill's house, "we have other fish to fry now, old girl."

When he reached home he drove the mare under the horse shed and tied her there, instead of unharnessing her as usual. Then he entered the house, and hastily swallowing the scanty supper which the silent woman placed before him, he donned his best clothes and then drove off at a pace.

"Law sakes alive!" exclaimed the woman amazed. "The deacon has got suthin' on his mind sure! It's the first time I ever knew him to disremember to ask a blessin'."

Ever since the death of his wife Deacon Pinch had looked upon Miss Kezia as his probable successor. For years he had gazed with covetous eyes on the fine Mead farm with its substantial buildings, but he never could screw his courage up to the point of facing the snapping black eyes of its owner. Of late he had been several times knocking at the door of Mrs Betsey Hill's little brown house, and the worthy milliner was overjoyed at the opening of this brilliant prospect before her. But the news of the sudden rise in western lands caused Mrs. Hill, with her small possessions, to sink into insignificance by the side of this rich woman with her well-tilled acres her overflowing barns and her prospective thousands of dollars.

The idea of failure in his matrimonial venture never for an instant entered the deacon's head. "The way afore ye is as plain and straight as a pipe-stem, Solomon Pinch," he murmured, rubbing the palms of his hands together as he walked toward Miss Kezia's side door. "Woman is mostly alike—eager an' willin' to embrace matrimonial opportunities. They'll snap at an offer like a hungry trout at a worm. She has got the money, and I hev' got the prominence and the influence, that's a p'int not to be overlooked; and deacons isn't to be had every day. Put her money and my influence together, and I rather guess we'll stand about the top o' the heap in New Bethany."

Miss Kezia was sitting by the table, knitting as usual. She had just begun to narrow for the toe of the stocking, when a step sounded on the walk. She threw down the stocking and opened the door, and, holding the lamp high above her head, her eyes rested on the amazing spectacle of the deacon in all the Sunday magnificence of white shirt and shiny black broadcloth. "Well, I never!" she ejaculated, and then, feeling that her reception had been hardly hospitable, she lowered the lamp and said kindly,

"Come in deacon—come in."

"Thank ye, thank ye; I don't mind if I dew."

"Take a seat, deacon."

"Thank ye; I don't mind if I dew."

The deacon surveyed the attractive room, which, with its cherry fire and comfortably cushioned chairs, seemed a veritable paradise in comparison with his untidy, ill-kept home. He placed his hat on the floor beside the chair, displaying his scant gray locks ingeniously plastered over the top of his head so as to cover as much of the bald surface as possible. Then there was a long pause.

"Anything going on, deacon?" asked Miss Kezia, resuming her knitting. She was greatly puzzled to account for those Sunday clothes.

"Nothin' within the reach of my observation. There won't be much a goin on till 'lection time; things 'll be pretty lively then."

"Want to buy any hay this year?" chirped Miss Kezia. "Mine is extra good this season; my hired man says it is the heaviest yield in town."

"I rather guess I'll have enough to carry me through the winter. If I don't I shall know where to come for hay as is hay. I declare your farm does beat all! I feel kind o' riggid like when I think the best farm in town is managed by a woman."

Miss Kezia smiled graciously, and the deacon drew his chair a little nearer to his hostess. "It must be a great load for you to carry alone. Such a large farm is a tre-men-jous responsibility for a lone woman."

"Oh, I don't mind it; it keeps me properly busy."

The deacon hitched his chair along a little farther; "Ye'd oughter hev' a brother or a cousin, or some relative like to share the burden with ye."

"My shoulders are plenty strong," returned Miss Kezia good naturedly. "I am glad to show folk that women are good for something beside gaddy-gaddling and tattling."

"Yis, yis," answered the deacon, "we can all testify to your vally and worth. You're a bright and shinin' beacon light to the triflin' and vain-minded women of the world;" and the speaker waved his hand at the conclusion of this little oratorical flourish.

Then, hitch, hitch, hitch, went the chair Miss Kezia ward. "Don't you feel sorto' lonely at spells," he asked insinuatingly.

Miss Kezia glanced suspiciously at the rapidly advancing chair. She dropped her knitting, went to the fire, and piled up the blazing sticks of wood. Then she came back to the table and set her chair on the farther side of it, thus putting a barrier between her and her visitor. "I'm never lonely, deacon; plenty to do is the best medicine for loneliness."

"But woman's a tender, dependent creatur'. Woman's a vine," (here the deacon assumed his weekly prayer-meeting drawl,) "and needs suthin' to cling to when the troublous, desolatin' waves of affliction and sorror roll over her."

"Stuff and nonsense!" exclaimed Miss Kezia with a contemptuous sniff. "I shouldn't have expected that a man of your sense, deacon, would repeat such silly trash. I have no patience with the people who are always talking as if a woman couldn't stand alone, and needed propping up, like a rag doll that hadn't any backbone. I'm no vine—no such creeping, helpless thing, I can tell you. I can stand alone as well as anybody, if the Lord so wills it, altho' I admit, deacon, that it's pleasanter to have some one keep you company."

"That's jest it; ye hev' hit the nail squar' on the head! It is pleasanter to hev' company in our sojourn on this mortal earth."

The deacon seized his chair with both hands and by a circuitous line of hitching placed it within three feet of Miss Kezia's table: "You're a forehanded woman, Miss Kezia; I'm a man of prominence and influence in the community; it seems to me that it would be a good thing if we could walk-in-hand thro' this vale of tears. Providence seems to p'int its finger that way." The deacon was thinking at that very moment of the money he would save by putting a thrifty manager like Miss Kezia in the place of his inefficient wasteful hired woman.

Miss Kezia was dumbfounded. She dropped her knitting, and ball of yarn rolled across the floor. "Mercy!" She finally gasped.

"I'll make ye a first rate husband and y'll make me a good wife. We've been members of the same church for thirty years or more, and as we have been members of the spiritooal family, we'll now be members of the same human family."

Miss Kezia straightened herself up in the high backed chair and drew in her chin while her voice rang out shrill and clear: "I rather guess it'll take two to make that bargain."

A second look at her aged admirer who was edging up to her with a sheepish simper exasperated the good woman beyond control. "The old fool!" she said, wrathfully.

The color came into the deacon's thin cheeks and he started to his feet, looking anxiously toward the door, as if meditating a hasty retreat. But the yarn was wound round his boots and he was forced to remain.

Miss Kezia likewise arose, and folding her hands primly in front of her, remarked grimly, "When you first began your talking I hadn't the least idea of what you were driving at. I thought you were hinting about Betsey Hill, and I wanted to take me into your confidence. I never dreamed that you meant me. Why, I supposed every one in town knew that I wouldn't give up my freedom for the best man living. Betsy Hill is a pious, likely woman; she'll make a good home for you, and she needs a good home herself."

"The deacon looked completely withered, and Miss Kezia continued: "If you'll step around a little livelier, deacon, and pick up the stones on your lots and put them into good fences, and mow down some of those pesky weeds, there's no earthly reason why your farm shouldn't look as well as mine. If I've said anything to hurt your feelings, deacon, I hope you'll overlook it. Why, you are twisted up in that yarn; I'll untangle it."

The delay in untwisting the yarn from the deacon's feet gave Miss Kezia a chance for further remark: "One word more, deacon: Have you heard about the western lands?"

The deacon wished he was anywhere out of the range of those merciless black eyes. "I—I think I've heern tell suthin' about 'em" he replied meekly.

"I thought so!" exclaimed Miss Kezia, savagely. "Well, deacon, those lands rightfully belong to my niece Mary; I only hold them as her guardian."

The deacon began to look upon his rejection as a blessing in disguise, for without the western lands Miss Kezia's attractions seemed tame compared with those of a fat, blue-eyed buxom widow Hill. "I can trust to ye never to mention this?" he asked timorously.

"I shall never speak of it. Now, follow my advice deacon; make sure of Betsy Hill before another week goes by. You have my good wishes. See to this at once."

"Thank ye, thank ye; I don't mind if I dew."

The good woman followed her crestfallen visitor to the door. As a sudden gust of cold night air put out the light she said: "The air is snapping to-night; have a frost, eh, deacon?"

And the disconfitted deacon felt that he had been nipped by something sharper that a frost

THE GAZETTE.

FRIDAY, APRIL 30, 1880.

CITY AND COUNTY.

WARD CAUCUSES.

The Republican electors of the several wards of the city of Janesville will meet for the purpose of electing delegates to the Senatorial and Assembly Conventions, at 7:30 o'clock, Friday evening, April 30th, as follows:

First ward—West side engine house.
Second ward—Engine house.
Third ward—Court house.
Fourth ward—Hatherall's shop, west end of Pleasant Street bridge.
Fifth ward—Luther Clark's shop.

By order of the committee.

BRIEFLETS.

—Brighter.

—April leaves to-night.

—The May pole to-morrow will be the one in the center of Robbin's big tent.

—The Round Table meet to-morrow night to have a conversation on "History."

—St. Patrick's Temperance Band have another dance at Young America hall, to-night.

—Miss Helen Porter and her pupils, expect to give a musicale in Lappin's hall soon.

—The Common Council meet, to-night, in accordance with the adjournment, last Monday evening.

—Miss Kunkle's pupils in elocution give a recital at her rooms this evening, to which the public is invited.

—The case of Atwater vs. Setzer, which was decided by Justice Brooks in favor of the defendant, has been appealed.

—Remember the Republican caucuses this evening, at the time and places announced in the official notices elsewhere.

—George Reese has moved his meat market to the store lately occupied by Frank Richards as a saloon, and Richards has moved to Chicago.

—H. S. Hogoboom has returned from his Minnesota lands. He reports that the cold spring and late snow storms have retarded work a good deal this season. W. F. Carle expects to return in about two weeks.

—The several wards are entitled to the following number of delegates in the Senatorial and Assembly District Conventions: First ward, 5; Second ward, 4; Third ward, 4; Fourth ward, 5; Fifth ward, 2.

—The Temple of Honor dance last night was largely attended, and the company was one of excellent make-up. The occasion is declared to have been one of the most enjoyable of the kind ever given by the Temple.

—Prof. Severance is to give a calico party next Wednesday evening at Apollo hall, to which he invites all his friends. It will be the last of the season, and should call forth a goodly company. The tickets have been placed at seventy five cents.

—The case of Jones vs. City of Janesville, is still on trial. The plaintiff's side is in and the defendant's witnesses are now being examined. The jurymen not in this case have been excused until Monday, as this case will doubtless occupy all of to-morrow.

—A May party is to be given at Armory hall next Monday evening by the friends of the Bower City rifles. The committee are Miss May Brown, Miss May Beal, and Miss Sadie Wilson, and the floor managers, John Andrews, Thomas Mahon, and G. L. Thompson. Smith & Tuckwood's band furnish the music, and tickets are fifty cents.

—The Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad surveyors are prospecting with a view of running their line parallel to that of the Northwestern line to Afton. The prices asked for right of way is the chief reason for considering a change advisable. It don't pay to put too fancy prices onto land as a railroad don't have to go where folk think it is going.

—And now comes a photograph showing Towne, of Harvard, en route for Milwaukee to get even with Peck's Sun for the cat grievance. The steed, bearing the whole Towne on his back, looks wearied, and as though he had ought to be leaned up against something and rested. Several cats are his traveling companions, and one feline is perched on the back of the nag. It's a sorry looking picture, all but Towne's countenance, which is lifelike except that it is a little sombre.

—We are in receipt of the Daily Press and Dakotian, of which Wheeler Bowen, formerly of the Gazette, is the editor. It is enlarged to seven columns, and has a new dress throughout, and is as handsome as it is newsy. It now enters upon its sixth year, and its anniversay number in this new dress and enlarged form bespeaks prosperity. A great deal of enterprise is also shown in this number by presenting a complete history of Dakota, evidently costing much work and research, and necessitating a supplement to give it the needed space. From the spirit which pervades its columns, one cannot but feel that the Press and Dakotaian is alive, and that it is "in dead earnest" to do all it can for its State and city.

THE WEATHER.

REPORTED BY PRENTICE & EVENSON, DRUGGISTS.

The thermometer at 6 o'clock last evening stood at 46 degrees above; at 1 o'clock a. m. to-day at 37 degrees above; at 7 o'clock a. m. at 38 degrees above, and at 1 o'clock p. m. at 50 degrees above. Clear.

The indications to-day are, for the upper lake region, rising barometer, cooler northwest winds and clear weather, possibly followed in the northwest by falling barometer, and warmer southerly winds.

THE CHILDREN'S PARTY.

The children's party given by Prof. Severance, at Apollo hall last evening was a very pleasant affair. The little folk were out in swarms, and there were many children of a larger growth, who took the part of spectators. There was a pleasing show of dress, and a happy time, and it proved a fitting close to the term. Among the pleasing incidents of the evening was the presentation to Prof. Severance of a beautiful floral horse shoe, given him by three pupils, Misses Fenno Bostwick, Lutie Titcomb, and May Colvin. Prof. Severance gains in popularity here each season, and his dancing school proves more and more of a success.

CROWD THE CANVAS.

To-morrow morning Burr Robbins' great shows open the season with a dazzling street parade and an afternoon and evening exhibition in this city. The street parade in the morning will cause the streets to be crowded, and the exhibitions will be still more worthy of a jam. Mr. Robbins is himself to appear to-morrow, for the first time in public since his terrible accident, and the opening of his season promises to be an enthusiastic ovation. The fact that the show in all its departments has been made more attractive than ever, will of itself draw a crowd, and the additional fact that its headquarters are here, that its proprietor and manager, is one of our most esteemed citizens, that his presence here and his enterprise prove a help to the city and county, should cause the tents to be filled to overflowing. Mr. Robbins, amid all his personal sufferings has shown much enterprise, and has spared no means to make his show a better one than ever before, and Rock county people will to morrow have the desired opportunity of endorsing his management, and expressing their hearty appreciation of his enterprise.

PLACING THE MEN.

The following changes have been made among the non-commissioned officers of the Janesville Guards:

J. B. Doe has been promoted to First Sergeant, vice W. A. Hand, promoted to Sergeant Major of the Batallion.

Corporal H. P. Ehrlinger has been promoted to Fifth Sergeant.

C. E. Wintermute has been promoted to Eighth Corporal, vice Ehrlinger promoted.

The promotions have all been earned, and that of Charlie Wintermute will be particularly applauded by those who were surprised at the efficiency he showed in drill at the late contest.

THAT BUCK BEER.

Mr. Fritz, who did the frescoing at the Myers house, and who has done some other excellent work with the brush, has painted for L. Wyler, a large picture of a a frolicsome buck trying to shake hands with a foaming glass of beer. It is to be put into Wyler's front window to-morrow for public inspection, and as a way of attracting attention to the fact that he is selling buck beer. Wyler got rid of half a car load last week, and this week is pouring a whole car load down the throats of his thirsty customers. He says that his trade in it is getting to be immense.

OVER THE HILLS.

The True Helpers, a society made up of the young folk of All Souls church, took a trip to-day to the Poor House at Johnstown. They carried with them a supply of reading matter, and sundry donations to cheer up the inmates of that institution, and took their lunch baskets with a view of being gone most of the day. One carryall was loaded with the Helpers, and a number of ladies went in private conveyances. If the society keeps up such practical missionary work, it is surely rightly named.

CATARRH

A PHYSICIAN'S TESTIMONY.

30 Years a Physician. 12 Years a Sufferer. Tried Regular Remedies. Tried Patent Medicines. Permanently cured by

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE.

MESSRS. WEEKS & POTTER.—Sirs: I have practised medicine for thirty years, and have been a sufferer myself for twelve years with Catarrh in the nasal passages, fauces and larynx. I have used everything in the materia medica without any permanent relief, until finally I was induced to try a patent medicine (something that we allopathists are very loth to do). I tried ——— and divers others until I got hold of yours. I followed the directions to the letter, and am happy to say have had a permanent cure. Your RADICAL CURE is certainly a happy combination for the cure of that most unpleasant and dangerous of diseases.

Yours, respectfully,
D. W. GRAY, M. D.,
Of Dr. D. W. Gray & Son, Physicians and Druggists, Muscatine, Iowa.
MUSCATINE, IOWA, March 27, 1877.

The value of this remedy must not be overlooked in the cure of those

SYMPATHETIC DISEASES,

Affections of the Eye, Ear, Throat, Lungs and Bronchial Tubes which in many cases accompany a severe case of Catarrh. The inflamed and diseased condition of the mucous membrane is the cause of all these troubles; and until the system has been brought properly under the influence of the RADICAL CURE, perfect freedom from them cannot be reasonably expected.

It is but three years since SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE was placed before the public, but in that short time it has found its way from Maine to California, and is everywhere acknowledged by druggists and physicians to be the most successful preparation for the thorough treatment of Catarrh ever compounded. The fact will be deemed of more importance when it is coupled with the statement that within five years over 250 different remedies for Catarrh have been placed on sale, and to-day, with one or two exceptions, their names cannot be recalled by the best-informed druggist. Advertising may succeed in forcing a few sales, but, unless the remedy possess undoubted specific medical properties, it is absolutely certain to fall into merited obscurity.

Each package of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE contains Dr. Sanford's Improved Inhaling Tube, with full directions for its use in all cases. Price $1.00. Sold by all wholesale and retail druggists and dealers throughout the United States and Canadas. WEEKS & POTTER, General Agents and Wholesale Druggists, Boston, Mass.
